

BULKSOURCE

SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT & DATA SOLUTIONS FOR THE MATERIAL WORLD

Intuitive Data Science for the Material World

BulkSource created its Decision Recommendation Engine (D.R.E.) using best-in-class data architecture coupled with sector-specific business logic. D.R.E.'s cloud computing technology is ever evolving as it compares its recommendations to the performance of actual outcomes, constantly learning and refining to yield more accurate predictions. These proprietary algorithms are how BulkSource applies artificial intelligence to gain practical intelligence to increase predictability, minimize risk, and obtain sustainable customer-specific business objectives.

D.R.E. can evaluate countless scenarios to predict likely outcomes for critical decision points throughout the supply chain. By leveraging D.R.E.'s capabilities, operators can ditch manual and spreadsheet-based processes that typically are time-consuming and lead to rushed decisions and second-guessing. With BulkSource's Data Capture and Data Intelligence solutions, businesses can collect and analyze information in real-time and collect all the data required to improve D.R.E.'s performance without any integrations or comprehensive IT support.

Getting started with BulkSource couldn't be easier. With its cloud-based architecture and robust API capabilities, any system can be plugged in without any heavy lifting. With on-site, remote, and video-recorded training, ensure that every staff member is prepared and ready to help on day one. Digitize, Analyze, and Predict outcomes in a matter of weeks, not months.
